Computer Guidance Announces New eCMS 3.7® Customer – Burton Construction Co.

Scottsdale, Arizona – February 3, 2009 – Computer Guidance Corporation, the leading developer of financial and project management software solutions for the commercial construction industry, announced that Burton Construction Co. has joined the growing list of contractors making the move to the eCMS accounting solution to manage their rapidly growing business.

Burton Construction Co. located in Sugar Land, Texas, with satellite offices in Dallas, Phoenix and the Washington DC Area, is a leading, full-service general contracting firm which specializes in professional and medical office buildings, corporate headquarters, mixed-use developments, and industrial / distribution warehouses. The Burton Team is comprised of talented professionals with an expertise in project delivery including: Design-Build, Design-Assist, and Competitive Bids. Burton's corporate philosophy is to build long-standing relationships with its clients and its colleagues in the design and construction community, which are based in trust, integrity, and partnership.

The eCMS 3.7 web interface applications from Computer Guidance Corporation provide Burton with solutions that will make the company more efficient, including fully automated capabilities for payroll and accounts receivable/billing systems that eliminate the need for manual input of data. The eCMS 3.7 suite combines 30 unified applications that will enable Burton to integrate its operational and financial systems. The company will take advantage of productivity tools such as document imaging, electronic workflow, and electronic forms management, all from the convenience of a web browser. Burton will also employ Project Collaborator, a browser based solution that unifies project management efforts, allowing submittals, drawing logs, meeting minutes, punch lists and other status information be viewed, updated, and shared by all project and financial team members.

Burton Chief Financial Officer Connie May states, "We selected Computer Guidance because we were looking for a robust, easy to use, full project management-accounting solution. eCMS and Project Collaborator is that solution."

Computer Guidance Business Development Manger Dave Suchomel adds, "Burton Construction was looking for a job cost accounting system that would allow them to manage large jobs from start to finish with the ability to deliver real-time operational and financial information to those who need it, when they need it".
