Computer Guidance Corporation Makes Executive Appointments
Strengthened Focus on Customer Relations and Product Delivery

Scottsdale, Arizona – September 20, 2011 – Computer Guidance Corporation, the leading developer of construction financial and project management software solutions for architecture, engineering and construction companies, today announced the appointment of Mike Bihlmeier as the Chief Operating Officer and Tom Niccoli as the Executive Vice President of Customer Services.

In his role as COO, Mike Bihlmeier will be responsible for the development and quality assurance of Computer Guidance products. In addition, Mike will lead the sales organization, both customer account management and new business development. Mike brings an extensive background in operations and sales management. Mike was the Vice President of Operations, COO, and later President of an entrepreneurial software development company, CRC Information Systems, spearheading customer satisfaction efforts across seven departments.

Tom Niccoli joined Computer Guidance in 2010 as the Director of Customer Services. Tom has launched numerous customer service initiatives and has established sound business processes for the company's professional services, technical services and application support departments. In his new role, Tom will continue his focus on these business areas as well as take an active role growing the services business of the company.

"Mike and Tom both bring years of experience in leadership and operations management and I am proud to have them on our executive management team as we strengthen our position in the marketplace." states Roger D. Kirk, President/CEO, Computer Guidance Corporation. "We look forward to their leadership as we fortify our focus on customer satisfaction and continued business growth."
