Computer Guidance Corporation Promotes Stephanie Meyer to Controller
Providing Leadership and Oversight of Corporate Accounting and Financial Reporting Functions

Scottsdale, Arizona – February 5, 2015 – Computer Guidance Corporation, the leading developer of ERP software solutions for the construction industry, today announced the promotion of Stephanie Meyer to Controller, serving as an important member of the management team.

Meyer has been with Computer Guidance Corporation since 2008 serving in several accounting roles managing the company's day-to-day accounting, payroll and financial reporting functions. With increasing responsibilities involved with supporting the growing organization, Meyer will lead all accounting, payroll and financial reporting efforts and will work directly with President on all financial planning, budgeting and forecasting activities.

"We are fortunate to have a talented group of people within our company that allows us to promote within instead," commented Mike Bihlmeier, President at Computer Guidance Corporation. "Meyer brings an extensive background in accounting, payroll and auditing to Computer Guidance and has been a tremendous asset to the organization. This promotion provides improved focus in areas such as planning, budgeting and corporate financial reporting."
