Carl Bolander Goes Live On eCMS v.4.0 Construction ERP Software

Long-term Computer Guidance Customer Reaps Additional Benefits and Return on Investment with Reliable ERP Platform Performance and Feature-rich Software

Scottsdale, Arizona – January 21, 2016 – Computer Guidance Corporation, the leading developer of ERP solutions for the construction industry, today announced that Carl Bolander, a specialty contractor headquartered in St. Paul, Minnesota, has gone live on Computer Guidance’s flagship ERP product—eCMS v.4.0. With the upgrade, Carl Bolander acquired additional functionality and licensed new applications while continuing to leverage Computer Guidance’s proven and reliable ERP platform.

Carl Bolander, a Computer Guidance customer since 1985, has relied on Computer Guidance’s Construction ERP Platform for the management of the company’s finances, accounting, human resources, payroll, supply chain and operations. With the eCMS v.4.0 ERP upgrade, the contractor is now taking advantage of additional software functionality, including advanced business intelligence and analytics, dynamic reporting and data mining, comprehensive enterprise content management, and hundreds of enhancements within the core feature set.

“The implementation not only went seamless, but resulted in minimum interruption to our daily business and it was completed within budget and on time,” stated Tim Gillen, Chief Financial Officer, Carl Bolander. “We also look forward to tapping into some very exciting functionality in the areas of self service, mobile and additional business intelligence.”

"We are proud to continue our long-term partnership with Carl Bolander in delivering them business-critical applications and data reliably and securely years after years," said Andrew Grasso, Account Manager at Computer Guidance Corporation. "eCMS v.4.0 provides a set of fully integrated construction-specific ERP applications that drive powerful functionality in terms of visibility and control across the entire organization. We look forward to being part of their continued success."
