Computer Guidance Renews Partnership with the Associated General Contractors (AGC) of America

Scottsdale, Arizona – February 29, 2016 – Computer Guidance Corporation, the leading developer of ERP solutions for the construction industry, today announced its renewed partnership with the Associated General Contractors of America to continue providing discounted software solutions to member firms and support the association’s ongoing efforts to bring to members integrated programs for ongoing collaboration and education.

“Thanks to this partnership, many of our member firms have had access to tool to allow them to solve some of their most complex challenges,” said Stephen E. Sandherr, the association’s chief executive officer. “Computer Guidance has been a tremendous supporter of our efforts to grow and promote our industry.”

Mike Bihlmeier, President of Computer Guidance, commented, "We are proud of this partnership and are committed to its ongoing efforts to strengthen our industry. As a result, AGC members can take advantage of our innovative solutions at a discounted price while our team gains unique insight into the needs of contractors and construction industry trends through some integrated programs.”
